Property Flood Resilience Measures

- Review the information available to private homeowners on how to protect their homes from flooding
- How can we make our own Council properties flood resilient?

Lessons learned

- What lessons have been learned from recent incidents of flooding?
- A 'light touch' review of the Charnwood Borough Council Scrutiny Panel findings from 2014

REASON FOR SCRUTINY

It is likely that extreme weather events will become more frequent in future and therefore the borough may suffer more regular, significant flooding events which will have a harmful impact on our communities.

Preventing and responding to flooding is the responsibility of many different agencies. The Council, along with other partners and agencies, can learn from the flooding affect in Leicestershire in January 2024 and help plan for the future to help better protect local people and businesses.
