1. Introduction

1.1 Policy Statement

Charnwood Borough Council is committed to effective risk management and assurance and sees it as an essential tool from a compliance, good practice and delivery perspective and is integral to how we run our services.

An effective risk and assurance process provides a mechanism to inform the Annual Governance Statement and is part of the overall management of performance and delivery of required outputs.

To ensure risk management is effectively implemented, all Members and Officers should understand the approach to risk management and regard it as part of their responsibilities.

The management of risk should be firmly embedded in everyone's thinking, behaviours and actions.

1.2 Governance Framework

The purpose of the risk management framework is to define how risks and opportunities will be handled within Charnwood Borough Council.

The framework sets the context for the management of risks and defines how they will be identified, assessed, managed and reviewed. The framework also provides information on roles and responsibilities, processes and procedures.

The Council expects all of its employees, officers and Councillors to have a level of understanding of how risks and opportunities could affect the performance of the Council and to consider the management of those risks as part of their everyday activities.

The Council has developed a Strategic Risk Register which is reviewed by the Risk Management Group on a quarterly basis – this group comprises SLT and CLT. The Terms of Reference for this group can be found at APPENDIX A.

In addition, operational risks are included in the annual Service Delivery Plans as completed by CLT members.

Risk management is also embedded into the project management process and within the Council's procurement.

In addition a standard template exists for reports submitted to Cabinet, Committees and Full Council, this ensures that risks to the Council have been considered.

1.3 Definitions

Risk can be defined as the effect of uncertainty on objectives. An effect may be positive, negative or a deviation from the expected. Risk is often described by an event, a change in circumstances or a consequence.

Risk Management is a process which aims to help organisations understand, evaluate and take action on all their risks with a view to increasing the probability of success and reducing the likelihood of failure.

Controls are systematic measures implemented to mitigate risks and help an organisation achieve its objectives. Preventive controls are mechanisms established to discourage errors or irregularities from occurring while detective controls are designed to identify errors or irregularities that may have occurred.

Assurance is the means by which management and stakeholders gain confidence that the operation of controls within an organisation is both efficient and effective.

Risk Appetite is the amount of risk an organisation is prepared to accept, tolerate or be exposed to in order to achieve its objectives. This is factored into planning, decision making and delivery.

It is important for the risk appetite to be understood within the organisation so that the appropriate response is made to identified risks.

The Council's appetite for managing risk will be continually reviewed by SLT and CLT and reported through to the Audit Committee.

1.4 Approach

The Council will meet risk and assurance management objectives by undertaking the following actions:

- Providing and using a robust and systematic framework for identifying, managing and responding to strategic and operational risks.
- Providing and using a robust and systematic framework for identifying sources of assurance at different levels within and outside the organisation and the level of confidence that provides to management about the effectiveness of controls.
- Establishing clear roles, responsibilities and reporting lines for risk management and assurance.
- Demonstrating a commitment to risk management and assurance through the actions and behaviours of the CLT and in their decision making.
- Understanding our risk appetite and the level of risk we are prepared to accept in different activities and service areas.
- Reinforcing the value of risk management by integrating it within the Councils project management, performance management and procurement processes.
- Increasing the understanding and expertise in risk management through periodic training and sharing of good practice.

2. Risk Management Process

The Council has a four-step process for identifying, assessing, managing and controlling risk. This is a continuous process.

2.1 Step 1: Identifying Risks

Our working definition of risk is

“Risk is something that may have an impact on the achievement of our objectives. This could be an opportunity as well as a threat.”

Drivers of risk

The Council faces risks from both internal and external factors. Understanding this helps the Council to assess the level of influence it may have over the risk.

There are three parts to a risk – an event that has a consequence that leads to an impact on our objectives - and it can be measured by estimating the likelihood of the event happening and the impact it may have on our objectives if it does.

It also helps to think of risk being driven by two basic categories, Strategic and Operational.

At a strategic level, the focus is on identifying the key risks to successful achievements of the Council's overall objectives.

Operational risks are the risks that are most likely to affect the performance and delivery of business services.

Strategic and operational risks are not mutually exclusive and a risk may escalate from one to another. They can all be driven by either external or internal factors, or a combination of both.

In the risk identification stage The council is concerned with identifying events that can impact on the business objectives – ‘what could happen?’ We need to look at both the positive and the negative effect and so should consider ‘what could happen if we don’t?’ This will help the council become more confident with risk taking. Insignificant risks can be ignored, significant risks can be planned for and the costs of taking action can be compared with the price to be paid if the adverse event occurs;

The sources of risk are identified at APPENDIX B.

The Council expresses it’s risks in a statement which outlines the Event, Consequence and Impact. Further guidance is provided at APPENDIX C.

2.2 Step 2: Assessing Risks

The next step is to assess those risks in terms of the likelihood that they will occur and the impact if they do. This will give the council an inherent risk score that will help it to identify the most serious risks before any controls have been applied. Using that information the council can make decisions about the significance of those risks and how or whether it should address them.

The Council has agreed criteria for the levels of likelihood and impact for risks and criteria for opportunities, shown in tables 1 and 2 below.

The council then considers each of the identified risks and, using the criteria in the tables below, assesses the risk in terms of the likelihood that it will occur and impact on the Council if it should occur.

Details of the risk criteria can be found at APPENDIX D.

When the council has assessed both the risk likelihood and impact it then multiplies the likelihood score by the impact score which gives the Inherent risk score. This is the score the council uses to identify which risks are the most serious, allowing it to make decisions about the significance of those risks and how or whether they should be addressed.

Once the inherent risk score has been calculated, the risks need to be plotted on to a risk prioritisation matrix to show the level of the risk and to make decisions about the significance of those risks to the Council, and how they will be managed (see figure 2 below). The risk matrix that the Council uses is a 4 x 4 matrix.

Likelihood	Very Likely (4)	4	8	12	16
	Likely (3)	3	6	9	12
	Unlikely (2)	2	4	6	8
	Remote (1)	1	2	3	4
		Minor (1)	Significant (2)	Serious (3)	Major (4)
		Impact

OVERALL RISK RATING
High 12-16	These are significant risks which may have a serious impact on the Councils and its objectives if not managed
Moderate 6-9	These are risks which have the capability to cause some disruption to the council
Low 3-4	These risks need to be monitored to ensure that there are no changes in circumstances which would lead to the risk score changing
Very Low 1-2

Risks need to be managed within the Council's risk appetite. Where the inherent risk score exceeds the Council's risk appetite for the type of risk, mitigating controls and actions need to be applied to manage the risk down to an acceptable level.

The risk appetite sets out the level of risk deemed to be acceptable for the different risk types and the risk factors to consider for each risk type. Risks identified will often have risk factors that fall within more than one risk type, in these cases the risk type deemed to present the highest level of risk should be designated as the Primary Risk Type and this used to ascertain the risk appetite for the risk. Further details outlining the Council's Risk Appetite can be found at APPENDIX E.

2.3 Step 3: Managing & Controlling Risks

Once the risks have been identified and assessed for likelihood and impact and the risk appetite determined, there needs to be agreement on who will own the risk (and/or manage it) and how the risk/opportunity will be managed, controlled or exploited.

There are three questions which apply here:

1. Can we reduce the likelihood of occurrence?
2. Can we reduce the impact?
3. Can we change the consequences of the risk?

There are four common approaches to treating risk: 'the four T's'

- Tolerating the Risk
- Treating the Risk
- Terminating the Risk
- Transferring the Risk

- Taking the Opportunity

These are explained in more detail below.

TOLERATING the risk. An organisation that recognises the value of risk management may accept that it might be appropriate to continue with an 'at risk' activity because it will open up greater opportunities for the future (but not before documenting the full reasoning behind that decision). It could be recognised that nothing can be done to mitigate a risk at a reasonable cost in terms of potential benefit, or the ability to do anything about a risk may be very limited.

Where the Council decides to set these levels of acceptance is known as its risk appetite, e.g. the Council may tolerate a risk where:

- The inherent risk score is within the risk appetite for the risk type
- The risk is effectively mitigated by internal controls, even if it is a high risk
- The risk cannot be mitigated cost effectively
- The risk opens up greater benefits

These risks must be monitored and contingency plans should be put in place in case the risks occur.

TREATING the risk. This is the most widely used approach. The purpose of treating a risk is to continue with the activity which gives rise to the risk, but to bring the risk to an acceptable level by taking action to control it in some way through either:

- containment actions (these lessen the likelihood or consequences of a risk and are applied before the risk materialises) or
- contingency actions (these are put into action after the risk has happened, thus reducing the impact. These must be pre-planned)

TERMINATING the risk – doing things differently and therefore removing the risk. This is particularly important in terms of project risk, but is often severely limited in terms of the strategic risks of an organisation.

TRANSFERRING some aspects of the risk to a third party, e.g. via insurance, or by paying a third party to take the risk in another way. This option is particularly good for mitigating financial risks, or risks to assets, e.g. transferring a risk may be considered to reduce the exposure of the Council, or because another organisation is more capable of effectively managing the risk. However, it is a limited option – very few strategic risks are insurable and only around 15 -20% of operational risks can be insured against.

When risk management is embedded, we become more confident risk takers and a fifth option can be used:

TAKING THE OPPORTUNITY: This is not an alternative to any of the above, rather it is an option to be considered whenever tolerating, treating, or transferring a risk. There are two aspects to this:

- The first is whether or not at the same time as mitigating a threat an opportunity arises where a positive impact can be exploited. For example, if a large sum of capital funding is to be put at risk in a major project, are the relevant controls judged to be good enough to justify increasing the sum of money at stake to gain even greater advantages?
- The second is whether or not circumstances arise which, whilst not generating threats, offer positive opportunities, e.g. lowering the cost of providing goods or services may free up resources that can be re-deployed.

Officers are encouraged to try to establish the cost of their planned actions. Some measures may be relatively easy to address, others might have to be implemented in phases. If a risk treatment has been identified outside the immediate area of influence of an officer, this should be referred to the Risk Management Group so that they can help to co-ordinate control measures between services.

2.4 Step 4: Recording & Reviewing Risks

Risks should be recorded on a risk register. The risk register template is appended at APPENDIX F to this framework.

The Council maintains two levels of risk register i.e., the Strategic Risk Register and Operational Risk Registers.

The Strategic Risk Register is monitored by the Risk Management Group and quarterly updates provided to the Audit Committee.

Operational Risk Registers are maintained and monitored at service level.

Circumstances and business priorities can, and do, change, and therefore risks, opportunities and their circumstances need to be regularly reviewed. Some risks will move down the priority rating, some may leave, and new risks will be identified.

As part of the Council's risk management framework, risk owners are required to review their risks at least quarterly. Any new very high risks, or the escalation of existing risks, should be reported to the Head of Service immediately.

Risk management should be included as an item on the agenda of all service management and team meetings.

The risk management framework (the four steps of risk management) is a continuous cycle designed not only to identify, assess, manage and review risks, assess but also to support your business objectives. You should review the risk identification process when drawing up your annual team service plan so that the risks and opportunities link directly to your business objectives. That way, risks and opportunities are directly linked to the achievement of the business objectives, which can then be prioritised using that information.

APPENDIX C

HOW TO WRITE RISKS

Expressing risks as a statement is often harder than it first seems. It may require re-thinking some basic assumptions about a situation and re-evaluating the elements that are most important.

For example, “lack of staff” is an issue and is not in itself a complete description. Try to externalise the issue and develop it into a risk that expresses how the issue will impact upon achievement of the Council’s strategic objectives.

Try to include those three parts to your risk: Event – Consequence – Impact.
This will ensure that focus, and therefore action is placed on the event.

Typical risk phrasing could be

For example, Environmental Services may identify the failure of the waste collection service, e.g. due to bad weather conditions, as a risk. They develop this around event, consequence, impact to:

“Failure of the waste collection service due to inclement weather (the event) could lead to unacceptable delays in collecting refuse (the consequence), resulting in public health issues and loss of reputation.
